The waffle knit thermal you'll never want to cover up

Traditionally relegated to undergarment status, most thermals just don't get the love they deserve. Except when they're made by Relwen, a company obsessed with details like reinforced bound collars and coverstitched hems that lay flat, retain their stretch, and move with your body. Available in a rainbow of yarn-dyed colors, this pre-shrunk cotton "underwear" might become your go-to outerwear.

FEATURES MATERIALS SIZING CARE

- A durable waffle knit long sleeve crew you'll want to live in
- 100% pre-shrunk cotton retains its size wash after wash
- Yarn-dyed cotton provides saturated, fade-resistant color
- Coverstitched open hem with jersey facing for durability and a clean look
- Cuffs are doubled over and stitched for a seamless edge
- Bound collar offers reinforcement and a smooth finish

Hardwearing work jacket for tough jobs and long hours

Built for days with no quit on the horizon, the Taylor Stitch Workhorse Canvas Jacket lives up to its name. Made from proprietary Chipped Canvas that's double dyed and stone washed for a broken-in feel, it'll be ready for action on day one—and work just as hard on day 901. Functional features like the bi-swing back make for easy reaching, swinging, tossing, and just about any other “ing” that needs doing. Because the Workhorse won't quit until you do.

FEATURES MATERIALS SIZING CARE ABOUT TAYLOR STITCH

Warm and wooly half-zip sweater with a surprise inside

When a plain ol' sweater just won't hit the look you're going for, reach for this handsome half-zip. It's crafted from 100% lambswool (famous for never losing its shape) so it'll keep your bones extra warm and has a ribbed funnel neckline that looks just as good zipped up as it does down. Oh, and did you catch that contrasting color on the inner collar? You won't be the only one to notice, but you might be the only one to sport it.

1950s postman slip-on for all-day walkability

When mailmen hit the pavement in the '50s to sling letters into little metal boxes, they wore shoes like these to cushion their feet against unforgiving sidewalks. So it is with the Postman Romeo: a simple slip-on made of durable black chaparral leather and shock-absorbing crepe wedge soles. Coming from a Minnesota company who earned their stripes designing footwear for the American worker, you can bet these will keep you going all damn day.

FEATURES MATERIALS SIZING CARE ABOUT RED WING HERITAGE

- Slip-on leather postman shoe designed for maximum comfort
- Crafted with durable black chaparral leather in a smooth finish
- Black crepe wedge sole absorbs shock
- Meets US Postal Service shoe requirements
- Made in the USA

An Old Fashioned without the hangover

When you crave that sweet, energizing scent of slightly singed orange peel, light this Neroli Candle. With notes of mandarin, bergamot, and vanilla (to name a few), you'd swear you were tucked into the back booth of a low-lit whiskey bar, sipping on a cocktail with John Coltrane on repeat.

A copper cup with a storied past

The Moscow Mule was developed in the 40s at Hollywood's Cock 'n Bull pub to move a surplus of vodka and ginger beer. To make his new cocktail stand out, the bar owner purchased a bunch of copper mugs peddled by a Russian immigrant. To honor that stroke of genius, we suggest skipping the rocks glass and giving this drink the copper vessel it deserves.

FEATURES MATERIALS SPECS CARE ABOUT TRUE BRANDS

- Two 16 oz. Moscow Mule cocktail mugs
- Durable stainless steel frame with a polished copper exterior
- Zig-zag brass handle ups the style ante
- 100% satisfaction guaranteed

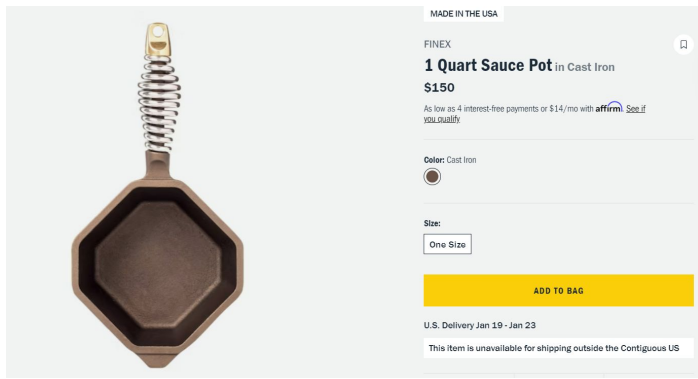

Go from garden to kitchen with this pocket-sized, dual-function herb tool

Crafted from food-grade stainless steel, this dual-function herb tool boasts razor-sharp scissors that will cleanly snip the stems you want. And when it's time to prep, pick one of the nine size options to cleanly strip the leaves from your parsley, sage, rosemary, and...kale. Ok, yes, thyme too. And good news, lefties, the ambidextrous design gives every green thumb a good grip.
